Upcoming Worship Services

March 1: On Waking AND Rising
_Nell Myhand (she/her), Guest Speaker_
In these perilous political times we are admonished to wake up, if we are asleep and to stay woke if we are awake. But is woke enough? We will think together about what is required to bring about the changes that we need to have the society we want. One that values all of us and the planet.

March 8: Good Cop, Bad Cop?
_When Women Call for Help_
_Rev. Dr. Carrie Knowles (she/her), Worship Leader_
On International Women’s Day, Rev. Dr. Carrie examines the problematic experience of women with law enforcement when they take social action and when they seek protection in face of violence.

March 15: Building the Star Trek Future
_Laila Ibrahim (she/her), Worship Leader_
The stories we tell about our past can help us more honestly understand our present – or keep reinforcing the myths that maintain they system of oppression and privilege we were born into. It takes humility and accountability to reveal the painful truth hidden in plain sight.

March 22: Spring Has Sprung!
_Rev. Dr. Carrie Knowles (she/her), Worship Leader_
The Spring equinox, celebrated in every faith, is a time of new life and new beginnings, as day and night come into balance.

March 29: The Mission Driven Fellowship
_Rev. Sarah Schurr (she/her), Worship Leader_
Keeping a Fellowship going is a lot of work. Why do we do it? What is purpose and mission of the Berkley Fellowship and how does understanding that mission make a difference in our work? How does it help us live into our place in the world? Rev. Sarah Schurr, from the Pacific Western Region of the UUA, will be our speaker on the important topic of Mission.

Spring Forward

I’m going to do everything in my power to shift focus to a more upbeat channel for the next several months. For one, we are drawing close to the end of winter. Whether noticeable or not, I am a person who is very tuned to the cycles in nature. Winter is our long dark season, and though we have passed the longest night, the dark of the day is still quite long. I like the long nights. I do my work, including my spiritual work, very well during the night and early morning. Yet, I do believe these dimmer days do affect all of us. The aggressive push and pull of the impeachment and the debates have their impacts even on those of us who don’t directly experience it through daily news reports. The nation does have a mood.

So I’m preparing to lift off soon and gain some altitude. Altitude is useful for broadening one's field of vision.

I still hold that our future is about taking to heart the ground of our covenant. And I can’t imagine that the dream of the beloved community wouldn’t be in our top hopes and goals for BFUU. Yet I find that my focus for reaching that is changing. I am currently attracted to the resonance of The Seven Principles of Unitarian-Universalism. These are the taproots that bind our two parent-denominations into a single-family.

I will not be digesting all seven at this seasonal setting. Here are the ones that have been speaking to me over the past few months. Let's see how much overlap you and I share.

- 2nd Principle: Justice, equity[^equity] and compassion in human relations;
- 3rd Principle: Acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations;
- 4th Principle: A free and responsible search for truth and meaning;
- 7th Principle: Respect for the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part.

I see the T3 small group as actively speaking in these principles. I love the small groups in large part because it gives me a chance to hear from you. Except for those people who may visit me on In-Office Wednesdays, I don’t often get to hear from you. On the one day each month that I get to be involved with a more significant part of the whole community, I’m doing a great deal of the talking. It’s not easy under such circumstances to hear from you for more than two or three minutes following. And I so want to hear from you. So the Springtime Small Groups are an excellent opportunity for that.

I hope many of you will take this opportunity of the T3 group to speak to your fellow congregants and me, as well, to share your thoughts on those things most important to you both in and around our community. Yes, national and world stage topics are all open in our responsible search for truth and meaning.

T3 will begin in April, and registration is currently open. Sunday and Newsletter Announcements will apprise you of their impending close. But don’t put this off. It always happens that someone asks after the moment to join has ended. To be with us: email me at RevMarsh@BFUU.org with T3 in the subject line or text me at (707) 557-5707 with mention of T3 AND your email address. Easy. I will send you something in response.

Respond to this with anything you’d like to tell me; about anything. Please write to me or call the office to set time with me on Wednesdays. I look forward to hearing from you.

Song for the month: Where Do We Come From

Dear BFUU,

Though Unitarians and Universalists have each been in existence for about 400 years, Unitarian Universalism is less than 100 years old.

BFUU, founded in 1959, is actually older than our joined association.

What have we done in the last 60 years? What do we want to do in the next 60?

This month we ask all BFUU friends and community to join us for a training weekend with the Reverend Sarah Schurr, our small congregations representative from the UUA. All BFUU leaders are invited to dinner on Friday for a small group breakout. All leaders, members and friends are invited to a timeline and training Saturday 9:30-3:30, and church service and brunch Sunday. Please see page 9 of this newsletter.

What will BFUU do? Who will we be? Let’s get together and start our plans for the next 10 years in Beloved Community.

Warmly,

Ira X

Poor People's Campaign Update

“In a fusion coalition, our most directly affected members would always speak on the issues closest to their own hearts. But they would never speak alone. When workers spoke up for the right to organize and engage in collective bargaining, the civil rights community would be there with them. And when civil rights leaders petitioned for the expansion of voting rights for people of color, white workers would stand with them.”

People are rising and coming together to break every chain and to take back what has been stolen.

What: A NATIONAL CALL FOR MORAL REVIVAL: MASS POOR PEOPLE’S ASSEMBLY & MORAL MARCH ON WASHINGTON

When: 10 AM, Saturday, June 20, 2020

Where: Northeast corner of the National Mall, Washington, DC, Pennsylvania Avenue, NW extending west from 3rd St. NW.

What: We are marching to Washington, DC, to demonstrate the collective power of poor and low-wealth people. We demand that both major political parties address the interlocking injustices of systemic racism, poverty, ecological devastation, militarism and the distorted moral narrative of religious nationalism by implementing our Moral Agenda.

Why: To dramatize the pain and prophetic leadership of the poor and dispossessed and build power to enact our demands.

To wake the nation to the interlocking injustices facing 140 million poor and low-wealth people, 43% of the nation.

But it’s not enough just to be awake. It’s not the waking; it’s the rising! On June 20, 2020, We Rise Together!

If the rejected millions – the poor without health insurance, without living wage, without clean water, without voting protections – unite, we can move the moral and political imagination of this country and revive the heart of the nation!

Who: The Poor People’s Campaign, a National Call for Moral Revival is made up of people of all backgrounds: We are Black, Brown, White, Native, and Asian. We are old and young. We are Christian, Sikh, Jewish, Buddhist, Hindu, Muslim. We are people of faith and not of faith.

We are people of all sexual orientations and gender identities. We are led by poor people, and we are a cross-class movement. We are people of all abilities; and we live across this nation, from Alabama to Alaska, from Maine to California to Mississippi.

March, ride, bus, drive, fly, walk, run, train, bike, but get there! Be in that number!

Submitted by Virginia Hollins-Davidson, Bay Area Steering Committee Representative on PPC CA State Coordinating Committee, and Rev. Tom McAninley, BFUW Community Minister, Bay Area PPC Steering Committee.

“Hellooooooo!” Jeff Palmer called from the mic on the stage, addressing the noisy crowd in the Fellowship Hall. “Hellooooooo!” echoed back the crowd and they quieted down a bit.

“Wow, that was so fun, let’s do it again!” said Jeff. “Hellooooooooo!”

“HELLOOOOOOOOOOOOO!” echoed the crowd louder, and this time, he had everyone’s attention.

“Let’s do it a third time!” shouted someone from the crowd. And so they did.

“Helllllooooooooooooo!” sang Jeff.

“HELLOOOOOOOOOOOOoooooooo!” shouted back the audience.

Jeff Palmer, BFUU board member, was giving the introduction to the concert on January 25, 2020 with Emma’s Revolution and Annie Patterson, co-creator of the famous “Rise Up Singing” songbooks that we often use in our musical gatherings and Sunday service music. He told jokes and explained what UU was, and he was clearly eating it up, telling jokes, and eliciting a lot of laughter.

Margaret Hurlbert, the Music Committee (MusC) chair and I had been reminded awhile back that it’s expected of us to introduce the Fellowship and UU at events sponsored by BFUU committees. It’s actually a very important thing to do, or our events become just like ordinary events from outside groups. So we ask board members to do this as official representatives of our congregation if they are present, especially officers.

Many people have told us that they never knew what UU was until they heard an introduction like this, and that they didn’t realize we welcome people of all faiths where love is the basis, and also welcome atheists and agnostics. Jeff then invited the group to our Sunday services and our other activities.

The concert was an amazing success, and the band filled the hall with gorgeous social justice music. I had worked really hard on promoting the event with Margaret and other MusC folks, and everyone made the event run smoothly. Last time Emma’s Revolution was here, the band put a big effort into promoting it, but this time, it became clear early on that because they were on a tightly scheduled tour, they were doing very little promotion. So we stepped up and publicized it widely with additional help from others including Ben Burch, Phoebe Sorgen, and of course our wonderful office staff. The choir made two outreach visits to the Starry Plough local music pub, performing social justice songs there and handing out flyers.

But you never know if promotion will work until the day of the concert, so it was to our delight that we had a standing room only crowd, with 165 attendees!

Since the concert was in honor of Pete Seeger’s 100th birthday with sing-along “Songs of Resilience,” one of the highlights was to sing a song written by Pete and to perform it with the band at the front of the Hall. Choir members were joined by musicians from our ukulele classes, and we felt like rock stars singing in three-part harmony this beautiful song about hope for an end to war as the entire crowd joined in.

As often happens, the Fellowship was gifted with music book donations at the end of the evening. This time our thanks go to members Dolores Helman and Gene Herman, who attended the spirited event.
Big Telecom v BFUU? by Phoebe Sorgen, SJC co-chair and co-founder of WiRED

Three houses down from BFUU on Cedar, a telephone pole sports a sign indicating that a so-called “small” cell Wireless Telecom Facility (WTF) is coming. That would be 5G, meaning 5th Generation, not 5 gigahertz. A small cell equals a macro cell tower in the strength of its wireless radiation emissions. Across the street are signs saying Verizon applied for a permit to install two 4G cell towers on the roof of the Lawrence Moore Manor where several BFUU members and friends live. Either WTF could adversely affect BFUU’s revenue. Near antennas, savvy parents pull kids out of schools and property values plummet by 20-30%.

Draft telecom guidelines and laws will be on the City Council agenda Tues March 17 (and March 24?) Please wear green to the meeting at 1231 Addison St. near Bonar, speak for one minute just before the item comes up on the agenda, cede your minute to another, and/or hold a sign expressing support for the people’s Recommendations which, thanks to Councilmember Davila, will be on the same agenda. Mill Valley banned cells from residential districts! We demand advance notice and hearings before telecom puts radiation-emitting antennas outside workplaces or schools, and 1500’ setbacks. The City must require telecom to put ALL ancillary equipment underground and to reimburse the City for insurance, radiation spot testing by independent engineers, inspections, signage, etc.

Wireless radiation adversely affects health and the environment, but federal law, written by industry lobbyists, forbids local officials from basing regulations on those factors if WTF radiation is within FCC standards (but no one is measuring.) So oppose 5G’s drastic increase in energy use, surveillance, hacking and fire risks, interference with weather prediction, property devaluations, worker danger, industrial clutter, Fair Housing and ADA inaccessibility, cost to cities and individuals.

Telecom has captured the FCC and the press. Just before a 5G Crisis National Action Day, a NY Times science writer promoted 5G, dismissing its health effects, because:

-> The survival of the Times depends on telecom advertising.
-> Telecom mogul Carlos Slim, one of the world’s richest men, was its largest shareholder.
-> In addition to owning Yahoo & AOL, Verizon has lucrative deals with the Times.

An Irish tribunal ruled that the Times article violated Ireland’s Truth & Accuracy Code. The court based its decision on over 1,000 peer-reviewed studies (from the National Institutes of Health, Yale, UCLA, etc.) which link cell phone and cell tower radiation to health problems. (MDsafeTech.org, AmericansForResponsibleTech.org, bioinitiative.org)

Whether to purchase a $1300 5G phone is a personal choice. The real argument is whether private big biz may involuntarily expose the public to wireless radiation 24/7 with no escape so a neighbor can stream video all day on a phone in the bathroom or “drive” a car while on social media. There’s no real need for more WTFs. Most coverage is fine for real needs. For trivial entertainment addiction or Big Telecom profit, is having ugly wireless antennas on every block worth the risks? Some people suffer no ill effects, fortunately, just as some smokers never get cancer, but emf radiation sickness caused two BFUU friends to become homeless. Big Telecom’s planned 5G rollout would drench humanity and the planet in radiation a million times greater than natural background levels. Berkeley needs to be brave and lead!
